PHILADELPHIA BATHS,

CORNER OF SEVENTH AND GEORGE NEAR CHESNUT STREET,

The efforts of the proprietor have been so strenuous, and the preparations so munificent in this splendid establishment, that they would seem entitled to public approbation and patronage. No expense has been shunned to complete every appurtenance, and combine every requisite for their perfection.

The building has the advantage of being located in one of the most retired and airy, and at the same time, central positions of the city. It contains two distinct ranges of apartments, appropriated for each of the sexes, having several and separate entrances; the best female attendance being provided for the service of the ladies. The establishment contains fifty baths, a part of which are of marble imported from Italy, and the others of plated Copper, Zinc, &c. In addition to the warm and cold, every provision has been made for shower bathing, so that the latter salutary application may be enjoyed at pleasure, by means of appropriate contrivances under the complete control of the individual who employs it. In addition to these accommodations, a swimming room has been constructed for those who are fond of that recreation, and in which persons who are ignorant of that necessary qualification may acquire without hazard, so useful an accomplishment. We subjoin, in addition to the foregoing notice, some observations of our celebrated countryman Count Rumford, to prove that the warm bath is more conducive to health than any luxury which can be enjoyed in a populous city, its beneficial effects being particularly described as follows:

It is not merely on account of the advantages, says the Count, "which I happened to receive from warm bathing, which renders me so much an advocate for the practice: exclusive of the wholesomeness of the warm bath, the luxury of bathing is so great, and the tranquil state of the mind and body, which follows, is so exquisitely delightful, that I think it quite impossible to recommend it too highly, if we consider it merely as a rational and elegant refinement." "The manner in which the warm bath operates," he continues, "in producing its salutary consequences, seems very evident. The genial warmth which is so applied to the skin, in the place of the cold air of the atmosphere, by which we are commonly surrounded, expands all those very small vessels, where the extremities of the arteries and veins unite, and by gently stimulating the whole frame, produces a full and free circulation, which if continued for a certain time, removes all obstructions in the vascular system, and puts all the organs into that state of regular, free and full motion, which is essential to health, and also to that delightful repose, accompanied by a consciousness of the power of exertion, which constitutes the highest animal enjoyment of which we are capable.

University of Pennsylvania.

This institution has obtained a just distinction for its Medical Lectures. They begin on the first Monday of November, in each year, and terminate about the 4th day of March. It is the oldest and the most frequented medical school in this country, and its celebrity has been widely established upon the labours of its medical faculty. Beginning in the year 1761, through the enterprise of Drs. Morgan and Shippen, who found themselves, at first, surrounded by only about a dozen students, the Medical Lectures have been frequented for the last twenty-five or thirty years, by an average number of more than four hundred young men, representing all the states in the union, the British provinces in North America and the West Indies. Notwithstanding the numerous medical schools which have been established since, in the United States, amounting, probably, to twenty or thirty, its numbers are undiminished, and the intellectual and moral characters of its students have improved successively.

The course of instruction consists in—

Six lectures a week on Anatomy, by P. S. Physick, M. D. and W. E. Horner, M. D., conjointly.

Six lectures a week on the Practice of Medicine, by Nathaniel Chapman, M. D.

Four lectures a week on Materia Medica, by J. R. Coxe, M. D.

Four lectures a week on Midwifery, and the Diseases of women and children, by Thomas C. James, M. D. and W. P. Dewees, M. D., conjointly.

Four lectures a week on Chemistry, by Robert Hare, M. D.

Four lectures a week on Surgery, by Wm. Gibson, M. D.

Two lectures a week on the Institutes of Medicine, by Samuel Jackson, M. D.

*Two lectures a week on Clinical Medicine, by N. Chapman, M. D.

*Two lectures a week on Clinical Surgery, by W. Gibson, M. D.

Besides which, a course of Practical Anatomy is conducted under the direction of Dr. Horner, beginning early in November, and ending the last of February.

A very extensive and valuable cabinet of Anatomy is open to the inspection of students, twice a week. Its foundations were laid by numerous dried preparations and models, made and collected by the late celebrated Dr. Wistar, and generously presented, at his death, by his widow to the University for the use of the Medical Faculty. Their numbers have been increased by a similar act of munificence on the part of the Pennsylvania Hospital. In addition to which, the collection has been more than doubled by contributions from the present professors of anatomy, in numerous and varied preparations in spirits of wine, &c. illustrative of the morbid alterations of the human body, as well as of its natural condition.

A valuable cabinet of wax models and oil paintings is also possessed by the professor of surgery, and intended to illustrate his course of lectures.

The Commencement, for conferring medical degrees, is held once a year, about the first day of April. The number of graduates varies from one hundred to one hundred and thirty.

Medical Institute of Philadelphia.

This institution, having for its objects the improvement of medical education in this country, began in the year 1817, under the auspices of N. Chapman, M. D. The course of instruction lasts for a whole year, beginning about the first or second Monday of April, and ending about the last of the following March. It is divided into two terms, one extends from April to the last Saturday of October, a vacation being allowed during August, and consists in lectures. The second term begins early in November, and is continued to the end of March; it consists in examinations.

From inconsiderable beginnings, the Medical Institute has reached to the condition of a systematic and popular course of instruction. For some years past, more than one hundred students have been annually registered on its list. Students are not permitted to enter for one set of lectures only, but must engage in the whole, as it induces them to adopt an extensive and varied course of medical schooling, much to their advantage.

A degree in medicine is not conferred, but a certificate, signed by the lecturers, respectively, is issued, indicating the time, during which the lectures have been followed. It has been thought inexpedient to issue medical degrees upon this course of instruction, because, emanating originally from one of the professors of the University, the Institute has been intended, invariably, as subsidiary to the course of instruction there; and has heretofore been conducted with that view.

The lectures are as follows, viz.

N. Chapman, M. D., on the Practice of Medicine.

W. E. Horner, M. D., on Anatomy.

W. P. Dewees, M. D., on Midwifery.

Samuel Jackson, M. D., on Materia Medica.

John Bell, M. D., on the Institutes of Medicine.

John K. Mitchell, M. D., on Chemistry.

Hugh L. Hodge, M. D., on the Principles of Surgery.

Thomas Harris, M. D., (Surgeon of the United States Naval Hospital, at Philadelphia,) on Operative Surgery.

From ten to twelve o'clock every day, during the course of lectures, is left for clinical instruction, at the Philadelphia Alms House Infirmary, and at the Pennsylvania Hospital.

During the course of Lectures in the University, Drs. Jackson, Bell, Mitchell, Hodge, and Harris conduct the examinations on the several branches of Medicine.

A further Supplement to an Ordinance, entitled an Ordinance for the Regulation of the Owners and Drivers of Hackney Coaches, Wagons, Carts, and Drays, within the City of Philadelphia. Passed April 16, 1812.

Sect. 1. Be it ordained and enacted by the citizens of Philadelphia, in Select and Common Councils assembled, That from and after the period of ten days, after the passing of this Ordinance, the rates or prices to be taken by the owners or drivers of Hackney Coaches or Carriages for the conveyance of passengers shall be as follows, viz:--

For conveying one passenger from any place within the city limits, east of the centre of Broad street, to any other place within the said limits, and east of the centre of Broad street, or from any place within the city limits, west of the centre of Broad street, to any other place within the said limits, west of the centre of Broad street, twenty-five cents; and twenty-five cents for each additional passenger, provided that not more than four passages shall be charged for any one carriage.

For conveying one or more passengers in any other direction within the limits of the pavement, twenty-five cents per mile for each passenger. And if any trunk, box, case, portmanteau, or other baggage, of sufficient size or weight to exclude a passenger, be placed inside the carriage, at the request of the owner of such baggage, twenty-five cents for each passenger that might be excluded thereby; and twelve and a half cents for every trunk, box, case, portmanteau, or other baggage, that may be placed on the outside of said carriage; provided, that no greater sum than twenty-five cents, in the whole, shall be charged or paid for so conveying such baggage on the outside of such carriage.

For conveying one passenger from any place within the city limits, east of the centre of Broad street, to any other place within the said limits, west of the centre of Broad street, or from any place within the city limits, west of the centre of Broad street, to any other place within the said limits, east of the centre of Broad street, fifty cents, and if there is more than one passenger, twenty-five cents for each passenger, with the same charge for luggage as is allowed above.

For conveying one or more passengers, when a carriage is employed by the hour, one dollar per hour; and the same rate for a longer period.

Sect. 2. And be it further ordained and enacted by the authority aforesaid, That if any owner or driver of any of the said hackney coaches or carriages, shall ask, demand or receive any larger sum than he may be entitled to receive as prescribed by the first section of this ordinance, he shall forfeit and pay for such offence the sum of five dollars, and may be deprived of his license at the pleasure of the Mayor.

Sect. 3. And be it further ordained and enacted by the authority aforesaid, That no driver of any hackney coach or carriage, while waiting for employment on any stand, which is or may be appointed for coaches or carriages, or on the public streets or wharves of the city, shall crack or flourish his whip, or shall molest or disturb any person passing, or shall stand or remain on the side walk, or shall be more than fifteen feet from his carriage, except when he shall be necessarily absent therefrom in the course of his duty and business; and whoever shall offend against any provision of this section, shall forfeit and pay for each offence one dollar.

Sect. 4. And be it further ordained and enacted by the authority aforesaid, That there shall be fixed up, in a conspicuous place, within each hackney coach or carriage, in such a manner as can be conveniently read by any person in the same, a card or paper, containing the number of the license, the name and residence of the owner, together with the whole of the first section of this ordinance, under a penalty of three dollars for every time such carriage shall go upon either of the public stands, or the public streets or wharves of the city, or shall convey a passenger or passengers, without having such card or paper so placed, which penalty may be recovered of the owner or driver of such hackney coach or carriage.

Sect. 5. And be it further ordained and enacted by the authority aforesaid, That no driver of any hackney coach or carriage, licensed in pursuance of the ordinance, to which this is a further supplement, shall, while standing unemployed on any of the public streets or wharves of the city, refuse or neglect to convey any person or persons, or their baggage, to any place or places within the limits of the pavement, upon being applied to for that purpose, under penalty of five dollars for every such offence, provided, that nothing contained in this ordinance shall be so construed as to extend to coaches or carriages which, though kept for hire, are not upon any occasion sent by their proprietors upon the public stands, or upon any of the wharves for hire, but which are only let for hire upon special application to the proprietors, and upon special agreement.

Sect. 6. And be it further ordained and enacted by the authority aforesaid, That the city clerk shall cause to be printed, on cards or paper, a sufficient number of copies of the first section of this ordinance, together with a blank form for the number of the license and name and residence of the owner; and it shall be his duty, immediately after the passing of this ordinance, and on the granting or renewing of every license, annually, to furnish to the owner of such hackney coach or carriage, two copies of the same for every licensed coach or carriage; and, in case of loss or accident, to furnish the same whenever specially applied to, by any such owner or owners, free of cost.

Sect. 7. And be it further ordained and enacted by the authority aforesaid, That all and every fine and fines, penalty and penalties, imposed by this ordinance, shall be recovered with costs, by any person who will sue for the same, in the manner, and for the uses prescribed in relation to the penalty inflicted by the seventh section of the ordinance to which this is a supplement.

Enacted into an Ordinance at the City of Philadelphia, the twenty-fourth day of January, in the year of our Lord eighteen hundred and twenty-eight.

President of the Common Council.

President of the Select Council.

NATHAN R. POTTS,

Clerk of the Common-Council.

Wardens of the Port of Philadelphia.

David Maffet, Master Warden; Stephen Girard, William West, Samuel Volans, Bankson Taylor, Charles Penrose, Joseph Reynolds, Assistants.

HARBOUR REGULATIONS.

Every vessel arriving from, or bound to a foreign port, is required by law to receive a pilot; or, to pay half pilotage in the Warden's office, where the master of every such vessel is required, under a penalty of 10 dollars, to make report within 36 hours after his arrival, and again before his departure, signing his name to said report in the Warden's book.

Every vessel of 75 tons and upwards, arriving from, or bound to, any port within the United States, and the masters of all such vessels are bound as above.

The pilot of every vessel is required to inform the master of his having to report at the Warden's office.

All vessels obliged to receive a pilot, are required to pay $10 in addition as winter pilotage from the 20th of November to the 10th of March, both days inclusive.

Foreign vessels, i. e. French, Spanish, Portuguese, Neapolitan, Danish, Russian, South American, and Haytian, to pay $2 67 cents in addition to other pilotage.

Every pilot, detained more than 24 hours, by any master, owner, or consignee, is entitled to $2 per day for every day he is so detained.

Every pilot detained more than 48 hours by the ice, after he has conducted his vessel to a place of safety, is entitled to $2 per day for every day he is so detained.

Every pilot, compelled to perform quarantine, is entitled to $2 per day for every day he is so detained, and cannot be discharged in less than six days without his consent.

Every pilot, obliged by the ice, or stress of weather, to proceed to another port, is, when there, entitled to his pilotage; and if there discharged, to 8 cents a mile for every mile he has to travel home.

Every pilot is required, under a penalty of $12, to make report within 48 hours, at the Warden's office, of every vessel he conducts to the city.

If any master, or captain of any ship or vessel, or other person, shall refuse or neglect to comply with the directions of the harbour master, in matters within the jurisdiction of his office; such person shall, for each and every such offence, severally forfeit and pay any sum not exceeding $100. And the said harbour master shall, in full compensation for his services, be entitled to have, recover, and receive, from the master, captain, owner, or consignee, of each and every ship or vessel, arriving at the port of Philadelphia (coasting vessels not exceeding the burthen of 75 tons excepted) the sum of $1 for each and every voyage by such ship or vessel performed, and no more.

Every ship or vessel that may arrive in this harbour, and that shall come to anchor in the stream, any where between Almond and Vine streets, having previously caused her gunpowder, if any she had on board, to be landed as the law directs, may remain in that situation 24 hours, and no longer, taking care to lay as near to the island, or sand bar, as may be consistent with her safety. But if, from the circumstance of a vessel having servants on board, or from any other cause, it may be thought necessary or convenient to lay a longer time in the stream, then, and in every such case, the owner, master, pilot, or other person, having the charge or direction of such vessel, shall remove her from opposite the city, and shall moor her, or cause her to be moored to the northward of Vine street, with one anchor and cable up, and one anchor and cable down the stream, and in both the above-mentioned situations, the regulation contained in the next succeeding article to be duly attended to.

If any vessel, properly moored in the stream, shall have her anchor or cable overlaid by another vessel, in anchoring or mooring, the master or person having the care or direction of such last mentioned vessel, shall immediately, or as soon as may be, after application made to him by the party aggrieved, cause the said anchor or cable, so overlaying, to be taken up and cleared.

When any ship or vessel shall be hauled in to any wharf or dock, or alongside of another vessel that may be lying at such wharf or dock, the owner, master, pilot, or whoever may have the command, care, or direction of her, shall have her securely made fast; and if outside of another vessel; shall get one good fast from each end of the vessel to the shore, with sufficient fenders between them and the inside vessel, and shall cause the fiefs of their anchors to be taken on board, and within 24 hours thereafter to cause her jib-boom, sprit-sail yard, main boom, spauker and ring-tail booms, if any they have, to be rigged in, and their lower yards topped up, in such a manner as least to interfere with vessels passing.

If the fasts of vessels when moored at a wharf, shall extend across a dock, so as to obstruct the passing and repassing of shallops, lighter, or other craft or vessel, the master, or other person having the command of such ship or vessel, shall, upon the first application, immediately cause such fast or fasts to be cast off, or slacked down.

No outward-bound vessel, putting off from a wharf, shall lay longer in the stream between Vine street and Almond, in the district of Southwark, above-mentioned, than 24 hours. And if vessels, lying at the end of wharves, so much interlock with each other as to prevent vessels hauling in and out of the docks, the master, owner, pilot, or other person having the charge of the same, shall, immediately on application from any person so wanting to haul his vessel in or out of the dock aforesaid, have the vessel or vessels, so interfering, moved in such a manner as to accommodate the one applied for; in which case the vessel making room for another to haul in or out, shall have liberty to make her warps fast to the most convenient place adjacent, for a reasonable time, and that all sea vessels, when transporting, or wanting to haul in to a wharf or dock, or to make sail in order to proceed to sea, shall have the same privilege.

When any ship or vessel may be lying alongside any wharf, and not actually taking in or discharging, she shall make way for, and permit any vessel, that wants to unload or load, to come inside next the wharf, until she discharges or loads her cargo; and the said vessel, when so discharged or loaded, shall haul outside and give way to the vessel that first occupied the wharf; provided, that from the 10th day of December to the 1st of March, no vessel shall be compelled to move from her birth, (only those at Gloucester Point Piers,) excepting to let vessels in and out of docks.

No ship or vessel loading or discharging hemp at any wharf, or within any dock, shall be allowed to have any fire on board; neither shall any vessel laying outside or near her, be permitted to have fire on board, while it may be considered dangerous. And no tar, turpentine, rosin, or pitch, shall be heated on the wharf, or on board any vessel lying at any wharf, within the limits of the city.

Letters must be left at the Post Office within the time specified, to insure going in the mail of the day; and newspapers half an hour before that time. As there are several places of the same name in the United States, it is necessary that the directions should be particular; the states should be distinguished, and when it might be doubtful, the counties. When letters are not for a Post Town, the nearest Post Town ought to be mentioned.

The office is open daily, from sun-rise to 8 P. M. except Sundays, the Fourth of July, and Christmas day, when it is open from 8 to 9 A. M. and from 1 to 2 P. M.

Persons wishing to pay postage when the office is shut, can enclose the money with the letter, directed to "The Post Office." Those who keep accounts with the carriers, or office, will please to enclose the letter, directed in the same manner, with a request that the postage be charged to their account.

All notes or letters deposited in this office, directed to any part of this city, this side of Broad Street, and to the populous parts of the Northern Liberties and Southwark, will be carried out with the Eastern, Southern and Western Letters.

ANECDOTE OF PROFESSOR JUNKER OF THE UNIVERSITY OF HALLE.

Many, who were personally acquainted with this celebrated character, have frequently heard him relate the following anecdote:

Being professor of anatomy, he once procured, for dissection, the bodies of two criminals who had been hanged. The key of the dissecting-room not being immediately at hand when they were carried home to him, he ordered them to be laid down in a closet which opened into his own apartment. The evening came, and Junker, according to his custom, proceeded to resume his literary labours before he retired to rest. It was now near midnight, and all his family were fast asleep, when he heard a rumbling noise in his closet. Thinking that, by some mistake, the cat had been shut up with the dead bodies, he rose, and, taking the candle, went to see what had happened. But what must have been his astonishment, or rather his panic, on perceiving that the sack which contained the two bodies was rent through the middle! He approached, and found that one of them was gone.

The doors and windows were well secured, and he thought it impossible the body could have been stolen. He tremblingly looked round the closet, and observed the dead man seated in a corner.

Junker stood for a moment motionless; the dead man seemed to look towards him, he moved both to the right and left, but the dead man still kept his eyes upon him.

The professor then retired, step by step, with his eye still fixed upon the object of his alarm, and holding the candle in his hand until he reached the door. The dead man instantly started up and followed him. A figure of so hideous an appearance, naked, and in motion—the lateness of the hour—the deep silence which prevailed—every thing concurred to overwhelm him with confusion. He let fall the only candle which he had burning, and all was darkness. He made his escape to his bed-chamber, and threw himself on the bed; thither, however, he was pursued: and he soon felt the dead man embracing his legs, and loudly sobbing.

Repeated cries of "leave me! leave me!" released Junker from the grasp of the dead man, who now exclaimed, "Ah! good executioner! good executioner! have mercy upon me!"

Junker soon perceived the cause of what had happened, and resumed his fortitude. He informed the reanimated sufferer who he really was, and made a motion in order to call up some of the family "You wish then to destroy me!" exclaimed the criminal. "If you call any one, my adventure will become public, and I shall be taken up and executed a second time. In the name of humanity, I implore you to save my life."

The physician struck a light, decorated his guest with an old night gown, and, having made him drink off a cordial, requested to know what had brought him to the gibbet. "It would have been a truly singular exhibition," observed Junker, "to have seen me, at that late hour, engaged in a lêve-à-lêve with a dead man, decked out in a night-gown."

The poor wretch informed him that he had enlisted as a soldier; but that, having no great attachment to the profession, he had determined to desert; that he had unfortunately entrusted his secret to a kind of crimp, a fellow of no principle, who recommended him to a woman in whose house he was to remain concealed; that this woman had discovered his retreat to the officers of Police, &c.

Junker was extremely perplexed how to save the poor man. It was impossible to retain him in his own house, and keep the affair a secret, and to turn him out of doors was to expose him to certain destruction. He resolved to conduct him out of the city, in order that he might get into a foreign jurisdiction; but it was necessary to pass the gates, which were strictly guarded. To accomplish this point, he dressed the man in some of his old clothes, and covered him with a cloak, and, at an early hour, set out for the country with his protegé behind him. On arriving at the city gate, where he was well known, he said in a hurried tone, that he had been sent for to visit a sick person who was dying in the suburbs. He was permitted to pass. Having both got into the open fields, the deserter threw himself at the feet of his deliverer, to whom he vowed eternal gratitude; and, after receiving some pecuniary assistance, departed, offering up prayers for his happiness.

Twelve years after, Junker having occasion to go to Amsterdam, was accosted on the Exchange by a man well dressed and of the best appearance, who, he had been informed, was one of the most respectable merchants in that city. The merchant, in a polite tone, inquired whether he was not professor Junker, of Halle; and on being answered in the affirmative, he requested, in an earnest manner, his company to dinner. The professor consented. Having reached the merchant's house, he was shown into an elegant apartment, where he found a beautiful wife, and two healthy children: but he could scarce suppress his astonishment at meeting so cordial a reception from a family with whom, he thought, he was entirely unacquainted.

After dinner, the merchant, taking him into his counting-room, said, "You do not recollect me?"—"Not at all."—"But I well recollect you, and never shall your features be effaced from my remembrance. You are my benefactor. I am the man who came to life in your closet, and to whom you paid so much attention. On parting from you, I took the road to Holland. I wrote a good hand, was tolerably expert at accounts; my figure was somewhat interesting, and I soon obtained employment as a merchant's clerik. My good conduct, and my zeal for the interests of my patron, procured me his confidence and his daughter's love. On his retiring from business, I succeeded him, and became his son-in-law. But for you, however, I should not have lived to experience all these enjoyments.—Henceforth look upon my house, my fortune, and myself, as at your disposal."

Those who possess the smallest portion of sensibility can easily represent to themselves the feelings of Junker.

A DUTCH SERMON.

The following admirable production, delivered before a company of volunteer soldiers, during our revolutionary struggle, upon the eve of their going 'forth to glorious war,' was calculated to inspire them with more than Herculean strength and courage. Parthenon.

certain the weight thereof. The dog, however, it appears, was well known, and the poor butcher immediately proceeded to the owner's house. The case (barring the person's name to whom the dog belonged) was stated to Mr. Latitat, and inquiry made if the value of the mutton could not be recovered. "O, most certainly, I will write to the person immediately." The cunning 'flesher' having thus ascertained the law of the case, begged leave to inform the attorney that his dog was the aggressor! "O! very well, what is the price of the mutton?" "Three and fourpence," exclaimed the overjoyed butcher. "There it is Sir," replied the attorney, throwing down the money, which was eagerly taken up by the other, who then proceeded very leisurely to leave the house, when the attorney called him back, and addressed him in the following language:—"I have paid you for the mutton; my charge for advice is 6s. 8d. which I insist upon your paying immediately!" The butcher put on a dreadful face at the mortifying information; and knowing there was no way to escape, drew forth the money, and paid the lawyer his fee, determined, in his own mind, never to attempt to outwit an attorney again.

From the Nantucket Enquirer.

The Sea Serpent has again made his appearance in a variety of shapes. Certificates and affidavits duly vouchred by common and proper names, are multiplying upon the wide mouthed world. Capt. Spiffetion of the topsail schooner Polly and Barabas, from East Puzzleburg for Knuckleshough, in latitude 97, longitude 372, saw a strange animal with a head like a tar-barrel and a tail like an anchor fluke, serpentine majestically over the sea's surface at a distance of forty-one feet three inches and a barleycorn. The monster was exactly seventeen furlongs in length from end to end, or from beginning to beginning. Being a phrenologist, the captain particularly noticed the humps, of which there were eighty-four, in the shape of wool sacks. On discharging a rotten potato, the serpent popped under the water and was off. The cook's mate, a very respectable coloured gentleman, well known to the Rev. Mr. Wigsby, who was at that moment frying onions in the cambouse house, with his face towards the weather door, testifies also to the foregoing facts.

Another equally authentic relation is given by the master and crew of a Nova Scotia East Indiaman, bound on a mackarel voyage to the German ocean. While off Cape Schaarkro, they boarded the wreck of a large brig the masts spars, sails and rigging were all gone. Near the hatchway, which was open, lay several oblong substances resembling large bladders of snuff; these were carefully deposited in the boat. On going aft, one of the men observed written upon the binnacle, this memorandum:—"June 4th, squally—closed reefed foretopsail—at 10 P M. all hands devoured by a sea serpent; so ends these twenty four hours." While consulting on this strange inscription, a noise was heard below; presently a hog's head of tobacco was seen slowly rising out of the hold; and as it ascended, two enormous jaws were discovered grasping its nether bilge. The terrified seamen hurried into the boat, and took to their oars. By the time they had rowed off two cables' lengths, the hog's head reached an alti-

The snuff col ured spheroids, which are undoubtedly serpent's eggs, have been carried to London, where, under the direction of the Royal Society, they are to be hatched during the next sitting of parliament.

The sea serpent was not a stranger to the aboriginal inhabitants of New England. Some time in the fifteenth century, the Indians upon this and the neighbouring islands suffered excessively from a long drought. The corn blades were crisped, the turn pike vines withered; and the green blackberries, before they were red, dropped from the bushes. In such a state of things, the appearance of a heavy black cloud approaching from the south west, was greeted by the tawny populace with loud demonstrations of joy; the chiefs whooped, the squaws grinned audibly, and the paposes chattered. But before the anticipated supply could reach Nantucket, a huge serpent emerged from the sea, rising perpendicularly and burying his head in the cloud, whence he absorbed every particle of moisture: and the vapour remnant, blew over, like a puff from the pipe of Maushop, without shedding a single tear. As the monster lowered his unwieldy length, he fell partly on the southern shore, and forcing his way across land into our harbour, again, attained his element. The line of ponds and vallies along the

ARTFUL QUESTION.

Dominico, the harlequin, going to see Louis XIV, at supper, fixed his eye on a dish of partridges. The King, who was fond of his acting, said, "Give that dish to Dominico."—"And the partridges, too, Sire?" Louis penetrating his art, replied, "And the partridges too." The dish was gold.

It is a subject of true wisdom to bring together every circumstance which may light up a flame of cheerfulness in the mind; and though we must indeed be insensible, should it burn with the same unwearied brightness, yet it should be preserved as a sacred fire, never to be totally extinguished.

A lady, who made pretensions to the most refined feelings, went to her butcher to remonstrate with him on his cruel practices.—"How," said she, "can you be so barbarous as to put innocent little lambs to death?" "Why not, madam?" said the butcher; "you would not eat them alive, would you."

A gentleman, seeing an Irish woman skinning eels, said to her, "how can you bear to be so cruel? Dont you think you put them to a great deal of pain?" "I might sir," she replied,

God answers prayer sometimes, says one, lest we should think he hath not the power; he denies it sometimes, lest we should be too much after the world; he punishes sins in part here, lest we might think he does not abhor them; he leaves some unpunished, as a proof of a judgment hereafter.

The reason why some women do not wish to admire St. Paul's writings, I suppose, are these: His being, as it is usually thought, a bachelor; his advising people not to marry in troublous times; his commanding wives to submit to their husbands; his not allowing women to speak in public; his unwillingness that they should broider their hair, or wear trinkets; his charging the fall upon Eve; his disregard of old wives fables; and his saying that young widows became tattlers and busy bodies.

"When the party that listens dinna ken what the party who speaks means, and the party who speaks dinna ken what he means himself—that is metaphysics."

What would be the effect of a poem, one line serious, one burlesque, on one and the same subject, in tragic and comic alteration? Would not the reader cry with one eye and laugh with the other?

THE CAGOTS.

A late traveller notices a singularly degraded people of this name, who inhabit the valley of Leize, in a wild part of the French side of the Pyrenees. They appear to be as wretched as human beings can be—the outcasts of society, a separated and degraded race, whose very touch is a pollution; even at the churches they are required to enter by a particular door, and no one will even use the "holy water," if they have dipped a finger into it. They are much affected with the goitre, and some of them are rendered hideous by it, and "their complexions are cadaverous in the extreme." They are supposed to be descendants of the Saracens, and for ages have been kept in their degraded state by the successive and cruel prejudices of other persons who hardly respect them as being of the human species. Such a race of men could not be preserved in the United States.

IMPERIAL.

Take of Cream of Tartar three drachms—the Rind of one Lemon—pour on them a quart of boiling water; and when colder, add a sufficient quantity of fine Sugar to render the liquid palatable.

When circumstances do not forbid its use, a small quantity of white wine may be also joined with it, to improve the flavour.

TO PRESERVE GAME IN HOT WEATHER.

Game or poultry may be preserved for a long time, by tying a string tight round the neck, so as to exclude the air, and by putting a piece of charcoal into the vent.

TO MAKE OTTO, (OR ODOUR) OF ROSES.

Pick the leaves of roses from all seeds and stalks, put them into a clean earthen vessel, glazed within; or a clean wooden vessel. Pour spring water on them, so as to cover them; set the vessel in the sun in the morning at rising, and leave it in the sun-shine till sun-set; then take them into the house; repeat this for six or seven days, and in three or four days there will be a fine yellow oily matter on the surface of the water; and in two or three days more, there will appear a scum upon the surface, which is the otto of roses. This may be taken up with cotton, and squeezed into a phial with the finger and thumb.

TO CLEAN ALL SORTS OF METAL.

Mix half a pint of refined neat's-foot oil, and half a gill of spirits of turpentine. Scrape a little kernel of rotten stone; wet a wollen rag therewith, dip it into the scraped kernel, and rub the metal well. Wipe it off with a soft cloth, polish with dry leather, and use more of the kernel: In respect to steel, if it is very rusty, use a little powder of pumice with the liquid on a separate wollen rag first.

TO TAKE STAINS OUT OF MAHOGANY.

Mix six ounces of spirit of salts, and half an ounce of rock salt of lemons, powdered, together. Drop a little on the stains, and rub it with a cork till it disappears. Wash off with cold water.

TO PRESERVE EGGS FOR A LENGTH OF TIME.

Put an egg for one minute in water just about to boil, (it will not in that time be hard), and it will afterwards keep well for a month. Steep one a little while in sweet oil, and it will keep for half a year.

TO REMOVE SPOTS OF GREASE FROM BOOKS AND PRINTS.

After having gently warmed the paper stained with grease, wax, oil, or any fat body whatever, take out as much as possible of it by means of blotting paper. Then dip a small brush in the essential oil of well-rectified spirit of turpentine, heated almost to an ebullition (for when cold, in acts only very weakly), and draw it gently over both sides of the paper, which must be carefully kept warm. The operation must be repeated as many times as the quantity of the fat body imbibed by the paper, or the thickness of the paper, may render necessary. When the greasy substance is entirely removed, recourse may be had to the following method to restore the paper to its former whiteness, which is not completely restored by the first process. Dip another brush into highly rectified spirit of wine, and draw it, in like manner, over the place which was stained, and particularly round the edges, to remove the border, that would still present a stain. By employing these means, with proper caution, the spot will totally disappear; the paper will resume its original whiteness; and if the process has been employed on a part written on with common ink or printed with printer's ink, it will experience no alteration.

TO PRESERVE SEEDS FOR A LONG TIME.

When seeds are to be preserved longer than the usual period, or when they are to be sent to a great distance, sugar, cotton, salt, sawdust, paper, &c. have been adopted with different degrees of success. Chinese seeds, dried by means of sulphuric acid, in Leslie's manner, may afterwards be preserved for any necessary length of time, by keeping them in an airy sit-

TO TAKE MILDEW OUT OF LINEN.

Rub it well with soap, then scrape some fine chalk, and rub that also in the linen; lay it on the grass; as it dries, wet it a little, and it will come out after twice doing.

TO TAKE STAINS OUT OF SILVER PLATE.

Steep the plate in soap ley for the space of four hours; then cover it over with whiting, and with vinegar, so that it may stick upon it, and dry it by a fire; after which, rub off the whiting, and pass it over with dry bran, and the spots will not only disappear, but the plate will look exceedingly bright.

Every different sort of fruit should be packed separately; and it will be proper to fix a label to each basket or hamper, with the name of the fruit that it contains, and the time of its being fit for use.

TO STAIN PAPER OR PARCHMENT YELLOW.

Paper may be stained of a beautiful yellow by the tincture of turmeric, formed by infusing an ounce or more of root, powdered, in a pint of spirit of wine. This, by afterwards adding water to it, may be made to give any tint of yellow, from the lightest straw to the full colour called French yellow, and will be equal in brightness even to the best died silks If yellow is wanted of a warmer or redder cast, annotto, or dragon's blood, must be added to the tincture.

TO STAIN PAPER OR PARCHMENT CRIMSON.

A very fine crimson stain may be given to paper, by a tincture of the Indian lake, which may be made by infusing the lake some days in spirits of wine, and then pouring off the tincture from the dregs.

spreading of the colour, which, by blotting the parchment, detracts greatly from the legibility, the alkali should be put on first, and the diluted acid added upon it. The method found to answer best has been, to spread the alkali thin with a feather or a bit of stick cut with a blunt point. Though the alkali should occasion no sensible change of colour, yet the moment the acid comes upon it, every trace of a letter turns at once to a fine blue, which soon acquires its full intensity, and is beyond comparison stronger than the colour of the original trace. If, then, the corner of a bit of blotting paper be carefully and dexterously applied near the letters, so as to imbibe the superfluous liquor, the staining of the parchment may be in a great measure avoided; for it is this superfluous liquor which absorbing part of the colouring matter from the letters, becomes a dye to whatever it touches. Care must be taken not to bring the blotting paper in contact with the letters, because the colouring matter is soft whilst wet, and may easily be rubbed off. The acid chiefly employed is the marine: but both the vitriolic and the nitrous succeed very well. They should be so far diluted as not to be in danger of corroding the parchment, after which the degree of strength does not seem to be a matter of much nicety.

TO PREVENT DANGER FROM WET CLOTHES.

Keep if possible in motion, and take care not to go near a fire or into any very warm place, so as to occasion a sudden heat, till some time after you have been able to procure dry clothes.

TO TAKE OFF A GOLD RING STIKING TIGHT ON A FINGER.

Touch it with mercury, and it becomes so brittle that a slight blow with a hammer will break it.

CHOPS OR STEAKS.

Those who are nice about Steaks, never attempt to have any, except in weather which permits the meat to be hung till it is tender—and give the Butcher some days notice of their wish for them.

The best steaks are those cut from the middle of a Rump, that has been killed at least four days in moderate weather,—when they can be cut about six inches long, four inches wide, and half an inch thick—do not beat them, unless you expect they will not be tender. Desire the Butcher to cut them of even thickness—if he does not, divide the thicker from the thinner pieces, and give them time accordingly.

Take care to have a very clear brisk fire, throw a little salt on, make the Gridiron hot, and set it slanting, to prevent the fat from dropping into the fire, and making a smoke. It requires more practice and care than is generally supposed to do Steaks to a nicety; and for want of these little attentions, this very common dish, which every body is supposed capable of dressing, seldom comes to the table in perfection.

Ask those you cook for, if they like it under or thoroughly done; and what accompaniments they like best,—it is usual to put a tablespoonful of Catsup,—or “Balls’ Caviace,” and a little minced Shallot into a dish before the fire, while you are broiling—turn the Steak with a pair of Steak tongs—it will be done in about ten or fifteen minutes; rub a bit of butter over it, and send it up garnished with Pickles and finely scraped Horseradish are the Sauces usually composed for Chops and Steaks.

COMPOSITION FOR A CEMENT TO RESIST THE ACTION OF FIRE AND WATER.

Take half a pint of milk, and mix with it an equal quantity of vinegar, so as to coagulate the milk. Separate the curds from the whey, and mix the latter with the whites of four or five eggs, after beating them well up. The mixture of these two substances being complete, add sifted quick-lime, and make the whole into a thick paste of the consistency of putty. If this mastich is carefully applied to broken bodies, or to fissures of any kind, and dried properly, it resists water and fire.

TO DESTROY VERMIN IN CHILDREN’S HEADS.

Take an ounce of vinegar, one ounce of stavesacre, well powdered, half an ounce of ho-

TO CHANGE HAIR TO A DEEP BROWN.

A solution of the silver caustic in water is the foundation of all the nostrums for this purpose. It must be well diluted before used.

TO TAKE OFF, INSTANTLY, A COPY FROM A PRINT OR PICTURE.

Make a water of soap and alum, with which wet a cloth or paper; lay it either on a print or picture, and pass it once under the rolling press, then going round the other side to take it up, you will have a very fine copy of whatever you shall have laid it upon.

TO DETECT THE MIXTURE OF ARSENIC.

A solution of blue vitriol dropped into any liquid in which arsenic has been put will turn it green.

KIDNEYS.

Cut them through the long way,—score them, sprinkle a little pepper and salt on them, and run a wire skewer through them, to keep from curling on the Gridiron—so that they may be evenly broiled.

Broil them over a very clear fire, turning them often till they are done: they will take about ten or twelve minutes, if the fire is brisk: or Fry them in Butter, and make gravy for them in the pan [after you have taken out the kidneys,] by putting in a teaspoonful of flour; as soon as it looks brown, put in as much water as will make gravy: they will take five minutes more to fry than to broil.

TO TRY THE PURITY OF SPIRITS.

See if the liquor will burn away without leaving any moisture behind. As spirit is much lighter than water, place a hollow ivory ball in it; the deeper the ball sinks, the lighter the liquor, and consequently the more spirituous.

TO PREVENT PAPER FROM SINKING.

If the paper used in superior editions of books, and which sinks so as to prevent its being written on, be dipped in alum-water, it may be written on. This practice was adopted by Peircsc.

STEWED OYSTERS.

Large Oysters will do for stewing, and by some are preferred; but we love the plump, juicy natives. Stew a couple of dozen of these in their own liquor;—when they are coming to a boil, skim well, take them up and beard them; strain the liquor through a tammis sieve, and lay the oysters on a dish. Put an ounce of butter into a stewpan,—when it is melted, put to it as much flour as will dry it up, the liquor of the Oysters, and three table-spoonsful of milk or cream, and a little white pepper and salt; to this some Cooks add a little Catsup or finely chopped Parsley, grated Lemon Peel, and juice; let it boil up for a couple of minutes, till it is smooth. then take it off the fire, put in the Oysters, and let them get warm; (they must not themselves be boiled, or they will become hard;) line the bottom and sides of a bash-dish with bread sippets, and pour your oysters and sauce into it.

PEARL WHITE.

Bismuth dissolved in aquafortis is pearl white. This though at first it whitens, afterwards blackens the skin, as all preparations from lead do; and therefore none of them are safely to be used.

TO PREVENT SEA SICKNESS.

Drop a few drops of vitriolic æther upon loaf sugar, and, let it dissolve in your mouth; or drink a few drops of æther, added to a solution of sugar, in water, to prevent its immediate evaporation.

TO PREVENT WOUNDS FROM MORTIFYING.

Sprinkle sugar on them. The Turks wash fresh wounds with wine, and sprinkle sugar on them. Obstinate ulcers may be cured with sugar dissolved in a strong decoction of walnut leaves.

OYSTERS FRIED.

The largest and finest Oysters are to be chosen for this purpose: simmer them in their own liquor for about five minutes,—take them out and lay them on a cloth to drain,—beard them, then flour them,—egg and bread-crumbs them,—put them into boiling fat, and fry them a delicate brown.

AN IRISHMAN'S INDIFFERENCE.

Paddy, who was arraigned before a court for horse-stealing, after having pleaded not guilty, the judge asked him by whom he would be tried? "By welve apostles," answered the prisoner. The judge told him that would not do, for if he was tried by them he could not have his trial till the day of judgment. "Faith," says Paddy, "and I have no objection to that neither, for I am in no hurry about it at all, at all."

Grand Lodge of New York.

The Grand Lodge of New York was first constituted by a warrant from the duke of Athol, dated London, 5th September, A. D. 1781.

D. 1787, the masters and wardens of the several lodges within the state, having been duly notified, assembled in the city of New York; and the late provincial grand lodge having been closed sine die, formed and opened an independent grand lodge, and elected and installed their grand officers.

There are now (1826) two Grand Lodges in the state of New York. One held in Albany, of which Stephen Van Rensselaer, Esq. is M. E. Grand Master—The other is held in the city of New York, and Martin Hoffman, Esq. M. E. Grand Master.

Memoranda of the Signers of the Declaration of Independence.

Chancellor Wythe, of Virginia—A lawyer, a judge of the purest morals and deepest learning, idle and dissipated until thirty years of age, when he first applied himself to the law, the preceptor of Jefferson.

George Read, of Delaware—An eminent lawyer. His biography is ample, interesting, and authentic.

William Williams, of Connecticut—Originally a town clerk, but liberally educated—then an upright, benevolent merchant, sacrificed the greater part of his gains to the public service.

Samuel Huntington, of Connecticut—a mere ploughman until his twenty-second year, afterwards an eminent lawyer, president of Congress, chief justice of his state, and governor. His biography highly curious.

William Floyd, of New York—A farmer, a general, enjoyed a large share of state honours.

George Walton, of Georgia—Originally an apprentice to a carpenter in Virginia, self-educated to the law, a colonel, wounded in battle, twice governor of Georgia, chief justice, senator of the United States.

George Clymer, of Pennsylvania—A merchant, fond of literature, a terse, sententious writer, an efficient and honourable patriot. His biography full and interesting, but diffuse:

—“Goodness his delight, Wisdom his wealth, and glory his reward.”

Benjamin Rush, as a physician and an author, omni laude cumulatus, the most celebrated of the American faculty, distinguished for his political connexions and labours.

Matthew Thornton, of New Hampshire—A successful practitioner of medicine, army surgeon before the revolution, a president of the provincial convention, a judge of the Supreme Court, a man of wit and humour, continued to practice physic while a judge, wrote political essays for the newspapers, and prepared a metaphysical work for publication, after he was eighty years of age: died in his eighty-ninth year.

William Whipple, of New Hampshire—Originally a cabin boy and sailor, a captain at the age of twenty-one, then a merchant, a general, who fought with Gates, and elsewhere, arranged the capitulation of Burgoyne, a judge of the superior court; “As a sailor,” says the biography, “he speedily attained the highest rank in his profession, as a merchant, he was circumspect and industrious, as a congressman, he was firm and fearless, as a legislator, he was honest and able, as a commander, he was cool and courageous, as a judge, he was dignified and impartial, and as a member of many subordinate public offices, he was alert and persevering. He bore all his honours with modesty and propriety."

Dr. John Witherspoon, of New Jersey, an eminent and profound divine, president of Nassau Hall College, a political writer of force and talent, a statesman of great influence and energy. His biography is ample and instructive.

Robert Morris, of Pennsylvania, a merchant, the unrivalled financier of the revolution, the pecuniary soul of the cause. His biography, like that of others, needs compression, but it is interesting and correct.

Abraham Clark, of New Jersey, a surveyor, a lawyer, and gave gratuitous counsel.

Francis Lewis, of New York, a merchant, and soldier, before the Revolution, very useful as a rebel, his fine estate on Long Island destroyed by the British, and his wife carried off a prisoner, she died soon after, from the ill treatment which was experienced. He was ruined by the part which he took on the American side—died in the ninetieth year of his age.

John Penn, of North Carolina, uneducated in early life; became a lawyer, and eminent, by opimathy.

James Wilson, of Pennsylvania, a lawyer, of rare capacity, and of surpassing faculties as a speaker and writer, an efficient political essayist, the principal advocate of the Constitution of 1787, in the Pennsylvania Convention, professor of law, one of the judges of the Supreme Court of the United States. His biography is replete with valuable information and political anecdote.

Carter Braxton, of Virginia, a planter, became a merchant, lost all, and died of a broken heart.

John Morton, of Pennsylvania, a surveyor, speaker of the General Assembly of Pennsylvania, a judge of the Supreme Court of the commonwealth, gave the casting vote of the Pennsylvania delegation, for the declaration of independence, originally a ploughboy.

Stephen Hopkins, of Rhode Island, a plain farmer, surveyor, became speaker of the assembly, chief justice, then governor of Rhode Island, a man of superior sense, and a good and successful writer, a distinguished mathematician, and natural philosopher, though his education was slight, and a member of the American Philosophical Society. His signature of the declaration is the only crooked and feeble one. "As it indicates," says his biographer, "a very tremulous hand, in perfect contrast with the bold and prominent writing of President Hancock, it may have engendered surmises unfavorable to the determined spirit of Mr. Hopkins. We therefore state, that for a number of years previous, he had been afflicted with a nervous affection, and when he wrote at all, which

Thomas McKean, of Pennsylvania, a lawyer of great abilities and ardent revolutionary patriotism, chief justice of the commonwealth, governor, died eighty-three years old. His biography entirely authentic, and replete with instructive details.

James Smith, of Pennsylvania, lawyer and surveyor, remarkable for facetiousness and eccentricity, practised the law for upwards of sixty years, died a nonagenarian. His article very pleasant.

Thomas Nelson, of Virginia, educated in England, an opulent planter, active military officer, commander-in-chief of the Virginia militia, whom he bravely and skilfully headed at the siege of Yorktown, governor of Virginia, died in reduced circumstances, having made enormous pecuniary sacrifices to the revolutionary cause.

Joseph Hawes, of North Carolina, a successful merchant, bred a Quaker, died when attending Congress, in 1779.

George Taylor, of Pennsylvania, on arriving in America from Ireland, bound himself for a term of years, as a common labourer, at the iron works at Durham on the Delaware, near Easton, was made clerk to the works, the proprietor dying, he espoused his widow, and finally became himself owner of the whole, amassed a large fortune, got into the provincial assembly, a member of business.—Nothing more is recollected of him in the vicinity of his residence, than that "he was a fine man and a furious whig."

John Hart, of New Jersey, a farmer, surnamed "honest John," had never held a public office, when he was chosen a delegate to Congress, his farm pillaged and destroyed by the Hessians, his biography possesses a peculiar interest, as a very edifying illustration of the character and course of an American yeoman.

Lewis Morris, of New York, gentleman farmer and large landed proprietor, his whole domain laid waste and ruined by the enemy, had three gallant sons in the field, the celebrated Gouverneur Morris his half brother.

Wm. Ellery, of Rhode Island, a well educated lawyer, an early revolutionary patriot, a very useful member of Congress, throughout the war. "He often," says his biographer, "spoke of the signing of the Declaration of Independence, and he spoke of it as an event, which many regarded with awe, perhaps, with uncertainty, but none with fear. He used to relate, that he placed himself beside the Secretary, Thompson, and eyed each delegate closely as he affixed his name to the document, and he saw dauntless resolution in every countenance. Ellery died without pain at the age of ninety-three, sitting upright in bed, and reading Tully's Offices in the Latin.

"Of no distemper, of no blast he died,
But fell like autumn-fruit that mellow'd long;
Ev'n wonder'd at because he falls no sooner.
Fate seem'd to wind up for fourscore years:
Yet freshly ran he on twelve winters more;
Till, like a clock worn out with eating time,
The wheel of weary life at last stood still."

Lyman Hall, of Georgia, an emigrant from Connecticut, a well trained physician, a useful member of Congress, made great sacrifices, Governor of Georgia, 1783.

Oliver Wolcott, of Connecticut, a graduate of Yale College, captain in the army before the Revolution, studied medicine, a major general of militia, aided in conquering Burgoyne, a judge, finally Governor of Connecticut.

Richard Stockton, of New Jersey, an accomplished lawyer and scholar, unrivalled at the bar of his state. After acquiring a competent fortune in his profession, travelled with much eclat in Great Britain, one of the judges of the Supreme Court of New Jersey, embarked early and vehemently in the Revolution, surprised and captured by the enemy, and committed to the common jail at New York. Congress directed General Washington to interfere in his behalf, and threaten retaliation, his health impaired, his property devastated, died prematurely of complicated afflictions, occasioned by his patriotism.

Button Gwinnett, of Georgia, originally a merchant, became a planter, an enthusiastic rebel; president of the provincial council, killed in a duel with general McIntosh, 1777, at the age of forty-five.

Foreign Monies, Weights, and Measures.

General Index of the Foreign Monies, Weights, and Measures referred to in the Consular Reports, with comparisons and explanations.—By Dr. KELLY.

It should be observed, that all the comparisons and explanations of foreign measures are here computed according to the new British imperial standard, which is about 3 per cent, larger than the Winchester measure, or, more nearly, 31 gallons, bushels, &c. of the new, answer to 32 of the old. Hence to reduce imperial measure to Winchester, add the thirty-first part to the number of gallons, &c.; and for the reverse operation, subtract the thirty-second part. The contrary calculation must of course, be observed with regard to prices: But these several proportions can be only stated with perfect accuracy in a regular treatise on Metrology, and as this Index is merely intended to give general illustrations, all minute fractions are omitted.

Alberts Dollar, a money used in Libau and Riga; worth about 4s. 6d. sterling.

Alqueire, a corn measure in Portugal, answering to three imperial gallons.

Arroba, a Spanish weight, answering to 25 1-4lbs. avoirdupois.

Barrel, or Tunna, a corn measure in Sweden, answering to 4 1-2 imperial bushels. Barrel is also a Josiah Bartlett, of New Hampshire, a successful practitioner of medicine, a leading whig in his province, commanded a regiment, the first who voted in Congress for the Declaration, and the second who signed it, chief justice of New Hampshire, the first republican governor of that state.

Gradual change of the Earth's Surface produced by Running Water.

If a small lake or extensive mill-pond, with very uneven bottom, were suddenly emptied by a sluice or opening in its lowest part, a vast number of pits or pools, of various size and shape, would be left among the inequalities of the bottom. But supposing rain to continue falling, or frequently to recur, a remarkable change would soon be effected; each pool by running over at its lowest part, and sending out a streamlet either into another lower pool or into a channel leading directly to the sluice or opening, would be wearing away the part or side over which the water was running, so that the breach or channel would become gradually deeper, and the water in the pool would consequently become shallower; while at the same time the bottom would be filling up with the sand or mud washed down by the rain from the elevations around; and these two operations being continued, the pool would at last disappear altogether. This operation going on in every pool through the whole of the emptied mill-pond, the bottom would at last exhibit only a varied and undulated surface of dry land, with a beautiful arrangement of ramifying channels, all sloping with a precision unattainable by art, to the general mouth or estuary. The reason that in the supposed case, and in every other, a water course soon becomes so singularly uniform as to dimension and descent is, that any pits or hollows in it are soon filled up by the sand and mud carried along the stream, and deposited where the current is slack; while any elevations are worn away by the action of the more rapid current which accompanies shallowness, until throughout the whole line only a uniform and gradual slope remains.

The present kingdom of Bohemia, for instance, is the bottom of one of the great lakes which once covered Europe. It is a basin or amphitheatre, formed by circular ridges of mountains, and the only gate or opening to it is that remarkable one by which the water escapes from it, and which has evidently been gradually cut or formed by the action of a running stream. As the bottom became uncovered by the sinking of the water, and by the formation of a regular sloping channel from every part, the former lake was converted into a fine and fertile country, a fit habitation for man; and the continued drain from it is the beautiful river which we now call the Elbe.

In Switzerland, even now many of the valleys which were formerly lakes, have the opening for the exit of water so narrow, that, as happened in one of them a few years ago, a mass of snow or ice falling into it, converts the valley once more into a lake. On the occasion alluded to, the accumulation of water within was very rapid; and although, from the danger foreseen to the country below if the impediment should suddenly give way, every means was tried to remove it gradually, the attempt had not succeeded, when the frightful burst took place, and involved all below in common ruin.

The magnificent Danube is the drain of a chain of basins or lakes, which must at one time have dischar-

DANCING WITH A PRINCE.—You did not know Maria D——, I think; but I did: and fairer prospects never dawned on the sunny eye of youth, beauty, and intelligence, than seemed to be hers. But unfortunately, her mamma had once been in England; and as ill luck would have it for poor Maria, had danced in the same room, nay, I believe, in the same set with the prince of Wales. Of course she could never talk or think of any thing else all her life afterward. It was shrewdly suspected that she put her husband to a lingering death with this story; and it is pretty certain that it caused all the misfortunes of my little associate, on whom nature had showered all the blossoms of spring, and who promised a rich product of delightful fruits in summer and autumn. But this unlucky dance spoiled all. The mother told the story morning, noon, and night, and danced that fatal dance over and over again, to the same tune, until the young lady could think, and talk, and dream, of nothing but figuring at court, and dancing with princes and lords, whom she fancied something or other, she knew not what, but far above any thing on this side the water.

The mother never heard of a foreigner being in town that she did not get the sidgets, until he was brought and introduced to the daughter, who soon, in her anxiety to go abroad, actually paid such broad attentions to those exotics, that instead of being alluring to the worthy among them, she became offensive. Unfortunately, though she had not fortune to tempt the avaricious, she possessed sufficient beauty to attract the voluptuary. One of these wandering creatures, ged or run over one into another, but the continued stream cutting a passage at last low enough to empty them all, they are now regions of fertility, occupied by civilized man, instead of the fishes which held them formerly. The lake of Geneva, for instance, although confined by granitic rock, is cutting and lowering its outlet, and the surface has fallen considerably within the period of accurate observation and records; and the wearing of the neighbouring mountains, brought down by the winter torrents, are filling up its bed. If the town of Geneva last long enough, its inhabitants will have to speak of the river in the neighbouring valley, instead of the picturesque lake which now fills it. Already several other towns and villages, which were close upon the lake a century ago, have fields and gardens appearing between them and the shore.

The immense continent of Australasia, or New Holland (larger than Europe,) is supposed by some to have been formed at a different time from what is called the old world; so different and peculiar are many of its animal and vegetable productions; and the idea of a later formation receives some countenance from the immense tracts of marshy or imperfectly drained land which have been discovered in the interior, into which rivers flow, but which seem not yet to have worn down or formed a sufficient outlet or discharging channel towards the ocean.—Arnott's Elements of Physics.

who stroll about the world to cheat the rich, and betray the inexperienced; who come to our country no one knows whence, and live no one knows how; and who gain a footing in our social circles by means of this pernicious leaning towards strangers,—chanced to come prowling that way, and was as usual, brought to the house of the good lady who once had the honor of dancing in the same set with the prince.

He passed for a man of rank,—talked of his noble relations,—of going back to England,—of the delights of courts, watering places, and, in short, played on all that light artillery before which the ill-fortified citadel of woman's heart so often yields. The good lady mother talked with the man of rank about certain lords whose names she had heard in England, and who were all his intimate acquaintances. He described them at a hazard, or rather at no hazard, for he soon discovered my lady knew as little as himself about them. In short, to make an end of a long story,—the old lady sidgeted,—the young one played off the fine lady,—till, at last, with great apparent circumspection, the illustrious foreigner asked her hand in preference to running away with her, because she had a few thousand dollars portion. The catastrophe rapidly took place. As soon as he had got possession of the money, and was tired of his bride, he ran away, no one knew where. Poor Maria never was presented at court; but pines away, in the most heart-sickening widowhood—a deserted wife: and the poor mother has never since told the story of dancing in the same set with the prince.

To find the time of Sun rising or setting for any place in the United States from the annexed Table: Take the latitude of the place on the top; and the sun's declination on the side, under the former and opposite the latter, will give the time of sun setting or rising.

Observe that this Table is calculated for the declination of the sun when North, and that when the declination is South, the time of sun rising exhibited in the Table will be time of sun setting;—also, the time of sun setting will be time of sun rising.

EXAMPLE I.

Required the time of sun rising and setting at Philadelphia, on the 20th May.
In the Almanac for the month of May, opposite 20, the day of the month, and in the column under (sun dec.) the sun's declination, is 20° N. In the annexed Table opposite 20 thus found, and under 40, the latitude of Philadelphia, the numbers 7 11 4 are given; that is 7h. 11m. for sun setting, as marked on the top, and 11 minutes before 5 for sun rising.

EXAMPLE II.

Required the time of sun rising and setting at Philadelphia on the 25th of February.
In the Almanac for the month of February, opposite 25th, the day of the month, and in the column under (sun dec.) the declination of the sun, is 9° S. In the annexed Table, opposite 9 thus found, and under 40, the numbers 6 31 6 are given, and agreeable to the directions on the top of the Table, when the declination is North, 6h. 31m. shows the sun setting, and 31 minutes before six for sun rising;—but in this instance, as the sun's declination is south, the sun rising must be taken for the sun setting, and 31 minutes before six for sun rising;—therefore, on the 25th February, at Philadelphia, the sun sets at 31 minutes before 6, and rises 6h. 31m. for the sun rising, as shown in the observation above;—therefore, on the 25th February, at Philadelphia, the sun sets at 31 minutes before 6, and rises 6h. 31m.
